REEM

Interpretation services

When face-to-face interpretation can help

There are some situations which particularly benefit from having a physical presence. When face-to-face translation should be a priority, we provide translation services for:

- GPs and doctors
- Hospitals
- Offices
- Government and public sector agencies and many more!

Our discreet and professional service provides the translation required to navigate even the difficult situations, covering areas such as health, medical needs, immigration. We can provide linguistic support for minors and anyone else who requires translation in order to communicate and access information.
